Q.1 A) With reference to the passage do as directed.

The Crow, the tortoise, the mouse and the deer were good friends. The crow lived on the tree, the tortoise, lived in the water, the mouse in a hole and the deer in the forest. Once all four decided to meet in the forest. Three of them came, but the deer did not come.

"May be he is in danger, "Let us look out for him," Said the mouse. The crow was asked to fly over the forest and spot their friend. The crow saw that the deer was trapped in the hunter's net. The mouse decided to cut the net. The crow flew him to that place. The mouse set to work and rescued the deer.

All of them were celebrating and just then they saw the hunter coming back. The crow flew away, the mouse hid in a hole and the deer fled. The tortoise was left behind. The hunter picked up the tortoise. Just then the deer appeared a little distance away. The hunter dropped the tortoise and ran behind the deer which had already escaped.

Q.2. A) Read the following passage carefully and complete the flow chart given below.

We may stay without food but none of us can live without water. A cool refreshing drink is something we long for on a hot summer's day.

Drinks can be classified into two categories: alcoholic and non alcoholic. Some examples of alcoholic drinks are spirits, wine and beer. Under the non-alcoholic type we have two kinds of drinks, hot and cold. Tea and Coffee are good examples of hot drinks. We now come to the cold drink. These can be further classified into aerated and non - aerated. Some examples of aerated drinks are soda, lemonade, coca-cola etc. on the other hand no-aerated drinks consist of squashes, fruit juices etc.
